If direct enrollment in a French university is your ideal for study abroad, AUCP Direct may be your dream come true!

Thanks to a newly revised contract with the Université de Provence d'Aix-en-Provence, AUCP students may benefit from the best of both worlds:

- Direct enrollment in a French university for three courses, plus
- Two classes at the AUCP, including on-site mentoring, and integration strategies

For the upcoming Spring semester, the Université de Provence, one of the most highly reputed in France, guarantees final exams before the 31st of May!

Students in Aix who choose the DIRECToption take two classes at the AUCP and three classes at l'Université de Provence.

Much better than a simple direct enrollment, AUCP Direct students benefit from an authentic French classroom experience, as well as the on-going mentoring and development of intercultural skills offered by the AUCP Cultural Patterns course and its Practicum components: Individual Homestay placement, Community Service placement and additional integration strategies.

Getting Results

We are pleased to remind you of the decisive results of the Georgetown Study which set AUCP students apart from those of 60 other programs (1,163 students tested). Comparative results demonstrate that thanks to AUCP program intervention, students make 6 times more progress in their intercultural sensitivity development, as certified by the IDI (Intercultural Development Inventory). In addition, AUCP students make 12 times more progress in the IDI than students who direct enroll in host universities without professional program intervention.
