

AMERICAN UNIVERSITY
CENTER OF PROVENCE

Aix-en-Provence

19, cours des Arts-et-Métiers
13100 Aix-en-Provence France

Marseille

27, rue Aldebert
13006 Marseille, France

www.aucp.fr

Happy New Year from the AUCP!

By Provence standards it is not too late for New Year's wishes, so in addition to health, wealth, and inner peace, let us extend the wish to fill your lives with the art of living and the pleasures of present moments shared.

All is well at the AUCP. We have invested more time and research into exploring the whys and wherefores of intercultural learning and have put new strategies into practice at both Centers, Aix and Marseille. Intercultural learning is not magic, but the result of carefully thought out program design and mentoring, and AUCP outcomes are currently unparalleled in the field. Please see our outcomes assessment reports for last semester.

I would be pleased to schedule a visit to your campus to explore with your faculty and staff the pedagogical theory and strategies most favorable to student learning abroad. Meanwhile, Mick Vande Berg, Tony Ogden, and I will be offering a full day workshop at the Forum on Education Abroad conference in March on the "Blueprint for Intercultural Learning". Do join us if you can.

We hope that you will continue to want the very best for your students and encourage our efforts in France with your valuable support.

Fond regards, as always,

Lilli
Founding Director